JOURNAL OF ALLERGY & HYPERSENSITIVITY DISEASES (JAHD) AWARDS

Celebrating and Promoting Excellence in Allergy & Hypersensitivity Research

Open Access • Official International Journal of the French Allergy Society • ISSN 2950-3124

Great science deserves a great stage. The Journal of Allergy & Hypersensitivity Diseases (JAHD) is proud to launch the JAHD Awards, a brand-new annual initiative created to recognise outstanding research, reward scientific excellence, and give the very best JAHD articles the visibility they deserve. Whether you are a Junior/ Fellow in Training taking your first steps in publication or a senior investigator with an established track record, JAHD wants your best work, and is ready to celebrate it!

| JUNIOR / FIT AWARD | SENIOR AWARD |
|---|---|
| €1,000 | €1,000 |
| Best JAHD Article with a Junior Author / Fellow in Training as first author | Best JAHD Article with a Senior Author as first author |

1 AWARD CATEGORIES

Two prestigious awards will be presented every year, honouring excellence at every career stage:

- Best JAHD Article – Junior/FIT Award (€1,000): awarded to an article whose first author is a Junior Author / Fellow in Training (FIT). The junior author must be the first author, but does not need to be the corresponding author.
- Best JAHD Article – Senior Award (€1,000): awarded to an article whose first author is a senior author.

2 ARTICLES ELIGIBLE FOR CONSIDERATION

The following article types are eligible:

- Original research articles
- Short communications
- Systematic reviews

Articles published in JAHD from 1 April 2026 onwards will be eligible for the first award cycle.

3 SELECTION PROCESS

A rigorous, two-stage process combines real-world impact with expert editorial judgement:

Step 1 — Identification of Highly Visible Articles

For each category, five articles are shortlisted based on a combination of:

- Number of citations
- Article downloads
- Article usage / engagement

Step 2 — Editorial Assessment

The shortlisted articles undergo a blinded assessment by members of the JAHD Editorial Board, who evaluate scientific and editorial quality against predefined criteria.

Step 3 — Selection of Winners

Following the editorial assessment, one winner is selected in each category — resulting in two annual JAHD Award winners. Junior/FIT Award winners will be asked to provide documentation confirming their junior/FIT status.

4 SUBMISSION PROCESS

Entering is effortless. The online submission system throuth the same platform (https://www.sciencedirect.com/journal/journal-of-allergy-and-hypersensitivity-diseases), but includes two simple tick-box questions:

- ☐ I would like my article to be considered for the JAHD Award.
- ☐ I am the first author and a junior author / Fellow in Training (FIT) / junior doctor.

5 ANNUAL ANNOUNCEMENT & VISIBILITY

Winners will be announced live at the French Allergy Congress in Paris, every April — a moment of true recognition in front of the community that matters most.

Throughout the year, the JAHD Awards will be championed across multiple channels, ensuring winners — and their science — reach a truly international audience:

- JAHD homepage and journal communications
- JAHD and SFA social media channels
- Newsletters
- Communications to junior members of allergy societies
- Editorial Board members' professional networks

6 PRESENTATION OF THE WINNING WORK

JAHD Award winners will be invited to present their winning work on the international stage of the French Allergy Congress in Paris, every April.

Unable to travel? A recorded video presentation can be offered as an alternative, so every winner gets their moment in the spotlight.

YOUR RESEARCH COULD BE NEXT.

Submit your article to JAHD today and put your work in the running for €1,000 and international recognition in Paris!
